Out now: the GLAMers training opportunities for GLAMs to leverage their digital transformation through youth participation!

Hands-on training for GLAMs!

Based on the collection of resources on youth participation in GLAMs, project partners are pleased to announce the release of their 5 free and open-access digital training suites!

We are pleased to announce that our online modules are now available!

The core theme of this training suite is the design of cultural events hosted by GLAMs involving youth participants. The suite will cover a range of forms of youth participation such as the involvement of cultural youth organizations; the involvement of young activist groups for a social purpose; young artists, etc. This aims to produce guidelines and offer hands-on training for the benefit of GLAMs in their digital transformation processes and outcomes through youth participation. In other words, the training suite will translate the project's first study (IO1) results into a set of actionable advice as well as training opportunities for GLAMs and youth sector stakeholders, as means to ensure knowledge transferability and better connection to the needs of the target groups.

The themes of our online modules are the followings:

- Social networking and digital technologies to enhance youth participation in GLAMers, by Web2Learn.
- Addressing youth audiences in GLAMers: strategies, impact, challenges and benefits by Citizens in Power.
- GLAMers in the COVID-19 crisis: challenges and opportunities for youth participation by MCA.
- Digital heritage as a means to unlock youth participation in GLAMers by CUT.
- Capacity building at museums: the technical, organizational and strategic dimensions of youth engagement in GLAMers routines by MUO.

The modules are now available in English. They will also be available in Greek, Croatian and French from June 1st.
